Television & radio Museum's spacious new quarters

By ELIZABETH JENSEN
Daily News Staff Writer

FOR the last several years, Saturday visitors to the Museum of Broadcasting had to arrive by about 1:30 p.m., before the cramped quarters began turning people away because there just wasn't room.

Starting Thursday, weekend visitors to the Museum of Television and Radio, as it has been renamed, can sleep in.

The museum is opening its gleaming new 72,000-square-foot facility at 25 W. 52d St., with nearly four times the capacity of the old building on 53d St., where it had been wedged in for 15 years.

"It's night and day," said museum President Robert Batscha of the old versus the new facilities. "It's now truly a world-quality institution."

Visitors who come to see Lucille Ball sitcoms or footage of the first man on the moon aren't likely to miss the old museum, with its slow elevators and 15 TV viewing consoles and eight radio/TV consoles. The new $30 million museum has 96 consoles, some big enough to accommodate families, that access recordings of either medium, as well as a radio listening room, with plush furniture, and, eventually, a radio studio.

Nor will attendees of the museum's 50 seminars a year miss the cramped 63-seat theater, where latecomers ended up sitting on the stairs.

The new building has a 99-seat theater and a 200-seat theater, both with lighting and sound equipment that can transform them into broadcast studios, allowing seminars to be transmitted to other locations.

Gone, too, is the printed card catalogue. The centerpiece of the new museum is its computerized "library," where a custom-designed Macintosh system allows visitors to get information on about 20,000 radio and TV programs, and then request to see as many as six of them. An archival listing of the museum's remaining 20,000 programs, not yet integrated into the robotically controlled system, is also accessible via the computer. Programs in the archives can be viewed with 72 hours' notice.

"Unlike most museums, where if it's not on the walls, well, they're sorry but it's in the warehouse, ours is all 'hangable,'" Batscha said.

The computer is also programmed with 400 collection highlights, divided by genre, to help those visitors who in the past have been overwhelmed if they didn't know exactly what they wanted to see. The museum also has a room for scholars; gallery space for memorabilia, and 1 million clippings of newspaper and magazine articles.

There are some restrictions for those who have visions of willing away the day looking at, say, a custom-designed "Twilight Zone" marathon; the museum will limit visitors to two hours a day (three hours for members).

Museum hours have been expanded, however, to include Sundays, as well as Thursday evenings and screenings on Friday evenings. The museum, closed Mondays, will open at noon other days; mornings are reserved for school groups.

Underlying all the whiz-bang technology is a determination to help change the way society looks at TV and radio programming.

"Television and radio are the literature of the 20th century," said Batscha, who contends that TV is on the verge of "being accepted as a creative medium."

Because of the enormous amount of TV programming, "we tend to overlook the enormous amount of quality in what's being produced," he said. The museum's collection of 40,000 radio and TV shows is just a fraction of the total 2 million TV shows alone that have been made.

About 3,000 new programs are added to the collection annually, based on historical, cultural and artistic, or social significance. That means footage and audiotapes of wars, as well as each year's top network entertainment programs.

AQUISITION of the programming from networks, studios and producers is the easy part, Batscha said; more difficult is making it accessible to the public. "Exhibition costs a fortune," he said. Annual operating costs of $5.5 million will be raised by contributions (late museum founder William S. Paley left a $23 million endowment that will cover about 20%), a suggested $5 admission fee and annual memberships.

To inaugurate the museum, the staff has planned a year-long tribute to "Seven Decades of Radio and Television," kicking off with "Jack Benny: The Radio and Television Work."

From the Publisher ... Both Dave Schmidt and Russ Edmunds wrote to correct my byline on the Geoclock review in #4. Russ wrote it, not Dave, and Russ says that he will have a review on an update version shortly. My apologies for being brain dead, guys! It only happens around grade card time, luckily.

FLASH! AM FREEZE EXPECTED TO END IN JANUARY! The freeze on accepting applications for new AM stations or for major changes to existing AM stations that was instituted by the FCC in March 1990 is coming to an end now that the FCC has issued its order on AM band improvements and expansion. The freeze will be lifted 70 days after that order is published in the Federal Register. The order was issued 10-25-91 so by our calculations the freeze will be lifted sometime before the end of January 1992. While this will open the door for many anxious AM owners to apply for improvements and changes to their facilities, the process of accepting applications for the new expanded AM band (1605-1705) will probably not begin until sometime later in the year. New forms for such applications need to be approved, printed and distributed and, as is usually the case with the Feds, this process could move at a very snail-like pace. It looks like the FCC will allocate around 300 stations in the new band, most of which will augment or replace existing operations. Stations with a spot on the new band will have at least five years to simulcast on both their present frequency and their new frequency in the expanded band. The FCC will judge requests for these new allocations on three priorities: 1) Fulltime stations seeking to reduce interference they might cause or receive. 2) Daytimers wishing to provide a first fulltime service to communities with populations of 100,000 or more. 3) daytime stations seeking to reduce interference they cause or receive. At present it appears the new band will be opened only to existing stations with no provision for new start-ups. According to an article in R&R Magazine, two FCC commissioners have objected to reserving the entire expanded band for existing broadcasters and have issued statements urging some provision for new entrants. According to the FCC 361 AM stations have already filed letters expressing an interest in moving to the new band. These letters, however, will have no bearing on the actual allotments since they were simply filed in response to the FCC's request for comments. Interesting things could be happening soon. Although the expanded band activities may see further delays the applications for major changes to existing facilities and applications for new stations in the existing AM band will be popping soon. Watch this space!

KCHR Radio

P. O. BOX 432

MEDIUM WAVE RAMBLINGS

■ Welcome... Henry Cotterill of Milford, PA and Todd Roberts from Hilton Head Island, SC, both reporting here for the first time. Todd is into "Medfer" beacons, hence his reporting of many of these in "TIS and Other". Medfer (MEDIUM Frequency Experimental Radio Stations) beacons are allowed under part 15 of the FCC rules. They are unlicensed, must operate between 530 and 1705 kHz, with a power not to exceed 100 milliwatts into an antenna up to 3 meters long. These are the same rules which cover Wireless Mikes and Phono Oscillators. Operators of these stations send a standard format of a 2- or 3-letter call in slow CW, that repeats continuously, like other beacons. A BFO is required on a good receiver in order to hear these guys. Just another facet of this strange hobby of ours.

■ This will be the last edition of DDXD-E from San Marcos. My company seems to think I'm needed at a site in California for from two to six months. And not wanting to stand in the unemployment line, I have accepted their offer. Now, how should this affect DDXD-E? As far as I'm concerned, not one iota. Until you see a new address in the DDXD-E header, continue to send your reports to San Marcos. I have conducted several "mail forwarding" lessons with my wife, and she will forward all reports to me. After the first couple of weeks, everything should be business as usual. Watch for a new, temporary address, coming soon.

UNIDS AND UNID HELP

- 840 UNID ?? - 9/28 BLK GOS pgm, cut suddenly at 1948 (JR-NY)
- 1060 UNID ?? - 10/26 0655-0705 fair under KYW with nx, ad for Farmers Stockyards at 325-4241(?) (DV-NY)
- 1540 UNID ?? - 10/19 2110 somebody in here real loud, looping NE/SW with either Polish, Russian, or some Slavic language pgm hosted by a man and woman both; polka-type mx, then at 2215 tune-by, noted Arabic chanting; this has been in before but never this well; ON conditions real good at this time, does this sound like CHIN's format? (ETH-MO) [I was going to suggest CHIN as I typed the very first few words, before getting to your guess of CHIN; sounds like their potpourri format to me - Ed.]

1550 UNID ?? - 10/11 2005 in with many FM 102.9 WYQC IDs; WYQC is listed in four-year-old FM Atlas as Shelbyville-Tullahoma on 102.9, which unfortunately is about equidistant from and between these two 1000 watt stations; could this be some kind of mini-network, and if so, could one of our TN members fill me in on this bizarre situation? a real teaser (ETH-MO) [See Volume 58, Issue 28, DDXD-E, 1600-2400 ELT, 1550 logging which will solve your query -Ed.]

- 1580 UNID ?? - 10/12 0105-0125 a Radio Juventud hrd with SS mx and announcements; weak but clear on a semi-AU night; not Cuba; nothing listed; Domestic? (JR-NY)
- UNID ?? - 10/12 0145 hrd HS FB game under unID SS, soon lost; since this is late for HS FB, wonder if KCWW-AZ was the one? (JR-NY)
- UNID ?? - 10/18 sign-off anncs mentioning 5000 watts, following white Christian talk pgm How to Improve Marriage, certain that sign-off included Baton Rouge address, but might have been Pascagoula since there is no Baton Rouge stn listed; to add to confusion, 1858 sign-off is 30 minutes before sunset in MS; format fits WZZJ, so maybe they sign-off early? (JR-NY)
- UNID ?? - 10/19 stn IDing as WNNT (taped) with Super Gold Oldies Show (seemed to be a satellite feed with local IDs); also Stereo 1-2-3 and a 1-800 request number (busy); hrd from 1915 until past 2105; WNNT is listed for 690-VA; format fits WTKT-KY, but CLs were definitely WNNT (JR-NY) [Well, the new Log sez they are with their FMer, which IDs as Oldies 1-2-3, but the "definitely WNNT" sure doesn't match - Ed.]

10 International DX Digest

Foreign DX Catches. Times are UTC; for ELT, subtract 5 hrs.

Don't you wish they would report solar and geo-magnetic information on the TV news at six and eleven? Well on October 29th they did, sort of, with a report mentioning the Northern Lights. I quickly ran up to the attic to hear the WWV A-Index announced as 98, K index 7, severe storm alert (A index 100, K index 3 the next night). Unfortunately I'm getting mostly a lot of noise, and not much deep south reception; except for a few regulars. My wife and I went up to Lake Ontario, but we didn't see any visible aurora, either.

A good turn-out this week! Nice to have some Canadian loggings from Mike Csorbay and Midwest loggings from Earl Higgins. Earl has been DXing for about one year and has 52 international loggings. Welcome, Earl, and report often!

Jim

TRANS-PACIFIC

1620 UNID After seeing Ray Moore's reports in DXN I decided to check this one out. 1012 10/25, man or possibly two men speaking, weak, heavy T-storm QRN, had faded some by 1017 when I had to leave for work. Again 1048 10/27, man speaking, better signal but even heavier QRN. Nothing really readable except two words that sounded like "Welcome to". I'm a long way from calling this an Aussie. I'm inclined to think this is a TIS station off 1610 or possibly assigned to 1620 for some reason. It completely faded by 1057 on 10/27. Interesting and definitely needs some work. Best signal 10/25 on loop, 10/27 on slopers. [AM-VA]

TRANS-ATLANTIC

765 SENEGAL Dakar 2345 10/24. Strong, sounded like a speech in one of the native languages being translated in FF. Good on all antennas but best on the loop. [AM-VA]

PAN-AMERICAN

535 GUENADA St. Georges 0219 10/25. Super signal, pop mx, cleanest signal on the loop, but good on all. [AM-VA]

540 MEXICO XEWA, Rio Verde 0550 9/29. Good in KUSA slop, SS LA mx, "La W" IDs, San Luis mentions by man, not // 900 though. [ETH-MO] 0209 10/23 w/melodic LA mx, male ancr in SS w/"Super Estelar" slogan IDs, very strong o/CBEF. [MC-DP]

Jim Renfrew
61 Wilcox Street
Rochester, NY 14607-3832

570 MEXICO XEJB, Monterrey 0742 10/22. Poor-fair throughb KLAC w/norteña mx and "B-J-B Norteña" shouted between songs. KLAC's switch to chatty IRN programming makes it possible to pull them a bit. New, XE #231. [TRH-CA]

620 UNID 0228-0237 10/27. Probably R. Rebelde although not // 5025 SW. Two male ancrs talking in SS, many mentions of Colombia, into mx 0235, then more talk 0237 mentioning Cuba. Perhaps not affiliated w/Rebelde anymore, or a Colombian after all; that would be nice. [MC-DN] (I've been hearing Rebelde // 5025 SW here, Mike. Could be WSKQ-NJ, Santo Domingo or Cartagena - Jim)

660 HONDURAS La Ceiba 1055 10/28. Loud in WFAN null, a surprise, "Esta es HRN La Voz de Honduras", real clear by man after song, perhaps XERIN off at this hour, Honduras #1 here. [ETH-MO]

700 JAMAICA Montego Bay 0400 10/28. Good in tight WLW null, possible RELG mx by man, "JBC Radio One" ID by man. Also heard at 1110 10/29 w/world nx by woman, then both JBC and R. One IDs. First Jamaican here; this could be real easy, I just never thought it could get through WLW here. [ETH-MO] (Also helps to have auroral conditions! - Jim) 0601 10/27 in just u/WLW w/a bit of reggae mx, island-accented EE amle ancr giving freqs and mentioning JBC; strangely enough, one of the few stations that faded UP at ID time. [MC-DN]

710 CUBA R. Rebelde 0558 10/27. SS Female ancr w/talk, sound effects, this one is definitely // to SW, on 3365; good signal w/CJRN/WWOR mixing. [MC-DN]

720 COLOMBIA UNID 0617+ 10/27. With WGN off for maintenance, a few stations poking through, with program of SS ballads and música romantica; at 0622 mentions of Colombia, and possibly LV de los Centaures (although not audible on 5955 SW) and LV de Colombia mentions, but this could have been a mention of network stations. Was fairly strong, and mixing w/another SS stn after this time, never positively identified. Any ideas? [MC-DN] (none, sorry - Jim)

720 JAMAICA RJR 0721 10/27. WGN still off at this time. In w/male ancr in EE advertising program "??? USA", gave time check "... on RJR", and return to program of C&W mx, which I had heard earlier and later that morning. Fair-good signal, w/SS station still trying to break through. [MC-DN]

780 VENEZUELA YVMN, R. Coro 2341 10/27. Man in SS, R. Coro ID, followed by up-beat mx. On top of freq on all antennas. [AM-VA] 0445 10/28 poor to good, long fades in WBBM null, "R. Coro" ID in promo, SS mx. [ETH-MO] 0711 10/27 in very strongly w/SS male ancr, w/WBBM off, just caught mention of "trece catorce" (13-14), into song by male. Long talk followed w/mentions of Coro, another SS station fighting w/it, but it never broke through for very long. [MC-DN] (XESFT? - Jim)

810 COLOMBIA Bogotá 0050 10/7. Good alone, presumed w/"Colombia" and "Colombiana" mentions in local announcements. Also real loud and dominant 0420 10/29, with "Caracol" IDs. [ETH-MO] (Check SW parallel 6150, too - Jim)

825 ST KITTS R. Paradise 0023 10/26. Very strong, EE RELG program, signal more like the old days, best on loop. [AM-VA]

Yoescucho XESM
Radio Cañón
En el 1470 de tú radio.

830 BELIZE R. Belize *1100-1116 10/27. THE catch of the week-end; heard TT at 1058, then tone at 1100, and female ancr in EE "Good morning, this is R. Belize. The time is 5 o'clock", anthem, ID and freqs after anthem and invite to a program that had "Belize" in the title; brief hymn and RELG message til 1105, then female ancr again w/program line-up (mentioning "Melody Time"), then into program of instrumental mx medleys. Brief fade 1113, in and out w/WCCO til final fade-out at 1116. Really enjoyed this one! First time I've logged them on this freq. [MC-DN] 0145-0215 10/30. Noted w/SS news from 0145 tune in until 0205. EE ID & nx headlines at 0206, followed by reggae. This was my best reception during the aurora, in WCCO null. Also noted 0200 11/1 in EE w/ID and mx, but weaker. [JR-NY]

870 UNID 0244 10/27. In SS w/mile-a-minute SS ancr calling "fútbol" game, w/"gooodaalll" announcements at 0252 and 0257 (maybe he was calling the Leafs game, hi!); of course, lost to WWL at 0258. Had been fair/good, but only spotty afterwards. Had visions of Argentina, but no luck IDing it. [MC-DN] (If I had this much, I'd call Argentina on the phone to verify! Maybe Mar Caribe? - Jim)

880 UNID 0742 10/25 (Fr.). HUGE OC, looped N/S. Unsure if US or XE station. [TRH-CA]

885 MONTERRAT R. Montserrat (tent) 0010 10/25. Man (or men) in what sounded like EE, fair carrier but weak modulation, best on loop. Are they back on? [AM-VA] (not that I've heard since the hurricane, though 930 is reported on; maybe you're the first to report them back on - Jim)

900 CUBA R. Reloj 0657 10/27. Could not find a listing, but definitely one here, w/distinctive second pips and Morse "RR" on the minute; fair thru CHML and another SS station, probably Mexican. [MC-DN] (R. Progreso may use R. Reloj programs during this time to save money - Jim)

950 MEXICO XEKAM, Tijuana 0744 10/25. Noted w/progressive rock program tonight, drowned out by its own transmitter hum! Format remains talk though. These people don't have a CLUE, hi! [TRH-CA] (Maybe we could start a column in DXN - "XEKAM Format Changes, Spurs, and Technical Innovations"? - Jim)

960 CUBA Cienfuegos 0410 10/28. Atop mess, usual Reloj pips, nx. [ETH]

1000 COLOMBIA Cartagena 0345 10/11. Good, atop, several Colombia mentions, one "RCN" ID, mostly talk. [ETH-MO]

Rádio Sacramento

271.52 100.1 FM
EMISSORA DA FUNDAÇÃO N. SRA. DO PATROCÍNIO SANTÍSSIMO SACRAMENTO
Rua do Rádio nº 60 - Cx. P. 61 - CEP 38190 - Sacramento - M. G.
C32 70 564-461/0034-43 - Tel. 351-1432 e 351-1735

1020 VENEZUELA R. Mundial Margarita 0648 10/27. SS vocal heard thru KDKA, a love ballad sung by female; male antr w/Radio Mundial mention, so I assume Venezuela, although I thought this one signed off at 0400 or so? Very good at first, faded quickly, into festive mx. [MC*DN]

1060 MEXICO R. Educación 0736 10/27. In w/haunting woodwind and string accompaniment to EE vocal by female, perhaps Carole King or Janice Ian; very good thru KDKA, SW // 6185 in very well at this time. [MC*DN] (Frequently heard here - Jim)

1140 MEXICO XEMR, Monterrey 0110 10/1. Good in WRVA null, call ID after international nx by man, mention 5 kW, "MR" IDs too. [ETH-MQ]

1180 CUBA R. Taino 0231 10/23. Heard quickie ID after LA mx: "Radio Taino, Tour Radio from Havana" thru WHAM World Series coverage. [MC-DN]

1210 VENEZUELA Barcelona 0400 10/19. Loud, many "R. Anzoategui" IDs, mention of "onda larga" and 49 meter SW freq. A real surprise and Venezuela #1 here. [ETH-MQ]

1270 CUBA CMHD, Camaquey 0212 10/11. R. Reloj w/metronome pips, good. [WPT-DC]

1310 CUBA CMDL, La Fe 0228 10/11. Talk in SS by male and female. [WPT-DC]

1500 MEXICO XEAI (presumed), Mexico City 0905 10/26. HUGE signal way o/KSJX on car rx and at home w/mentions of Mexico City, seven digit phone numbers (see below). Mentioned day and night power now 50 kW. Slogan "R. Noticias Canal 1500" used often, but format remains tropical, not news. No call ID noted. [TRAH-CA]

1555 CAYMAN ISLANDS R. Cayman 0203 10/23. Incredible signal, didn't need loop or narrow filter at first! Playing program of pop mx, including reggae version of Cat Stevens "Wild World"; didn't wait for ID, but rechecked many times and still in well as of 0300+. [MC-DN]

1570 TURKS & CAICOS ISLANDS Atlantic Radio Beacon 2319 10/10. Sermon by female, excellent. [WPT-DC]

METROBROADCAST

QSL INFORMATION

I got a phone inquiry from a new member concerning techniques for obtaining a QSL from Caribbean and Central/South American countries.

Everything you have learned about QSLing domestic stations holds true and more so. Here are a few special tips concerning international QSLing that I've picked up through the years:

(1) If at all possible, write in the broadcast language, unless you are able to determine that the station broadcasts in English at other times. The NRC reprint list has sample QSL request letters in English, Spanish or French.

(2) Enclose mint stamps (by far, the best bet), or International Reply Coupons (between 1 and 3 of them) for stations in the capital city, or $1 (US) in other places where IRCs are harder to convert. Mint stamps can be obtained from stamp dealers in your locality. The down side of sending $1 is that your money will be pocketed or that someone along the mail route will learn to open (and toss) foreign letters in hope of finding money.

4VRD RADIO NATIONALE

rua du magasin de l'élect
boite postale 1143
P.O. Box 1143
adresse téléphonique
4VRD-PAP
NR 23420, 23421, 23442

(3) Enclose a prepared QSL card and a return address label to make their response easier. I create them on my computer, but you could type up your own and make photocopies on heavy stock. For an SASE I will send you an English, Spanish, and Portuguese sample which you are welcome to duplicate for your own use.

(4) Use a non-commemorative meter stamp from the Post Office on the outside of your letter, type the To/From addresses on labels so that your letter has a "business" look, rather than a "personal" look (see #2 above). For the rare one, you might consider registering your letter, although some believe that this may draw even more attention to your letter along the way.

(5) English-speaking Caribbean broadcasters (except the Bahamas!) seem to respond more readily than Central and South American stations, but you may have to send many follow-up reports no matter what the station.

(6) If two PO Boxes are shown in the WRTH, use the Air (aero) box number.

(7) Station personal in Third World countries are low-paid and over-worked. You do not have a "right" to your QSL. They are not all that interested in distant listeners, nor are they necessarily aware of DXing or the technical aspects of the hobby. You should try to make your letter stand out by its personal "pen-pal" style of writing with a picture of you and your dog, a local postcard or something equally as interesting.

(8) Cassette tapes are expensive to mail, and I have not had much luck sending them. Your fabulous DX tape may only sound like noise to someone else, so only send good quality recordings. If you do send a tape, try filling out the tape with music from your favorite radio station.

(9) If you do get a foreign QSL, let us know in IDXD so that we can share the details of your success story with other NRCers.

Feel free to add your comments on QSLs in subsequent editions of IDXD.

Radio Roundup

News of radio personalities, of interest to DX'ers

Greetings all ... ABC Radio Sports and ESPN has announced they will jointly launch an all-sports radio network in January, 1992. To be called "ESPN Radio Network," the co-venture will provide live news, information and magazine-style programming on weekends and during weekday morning and afternoon drive times. Sixteen hours of sports programming will be produced and broadcast weekly from ESPN headquarters in Bristol. More than 200 radio stations are expected to sign for the new service by January, with 25 stations in the top 50 markets already committed. ESPN Radio Network programming will be broadcast Saturdays and Sundays from 6 p.m. until 1 a.m. ET. Programming will include a wide variety of in-depth sports programming including up-to-the-minute sports news, game reports, guest interviews and ESPN features. Results of late Saturday night game scores and a preview of the busy Sunday sports schedules will be aired Sunday mornings from 7 a.m. until 9 a.m. In addition, ESPN commentaries will be broadcast during both morning and afternoon drive times, Monday through Friday ... Bob Fitzsimmons and Al Rosenberg have parted company as the morning duo on WNEW. It is very sad to see the demise of a once great radio station. WNEW has also axed their news department in another budget cutting move. NRCers wishing to QSL with them will have to use their new address at 1700 Broadway. They are moving their studios to the same building where their FM sister station WYNY resides ... After being axed nearly 18 months ago, Lynne Samuels is back behind the microphones at WABC-770, doing a weekend shift ... PBS is preparing its documentary to be titled The Empire of the Air, The Men Who Made Radio. The show, to be narrated by Jason Robards, will air Jan. 29th. It is chronicled David Sarnoff, Lee DeForest and Edwin Armstrong among others ... It is rather strange to me that a station would hire an out of town talker to do a local talk show by remote control, but that's what WOR-710 is doing. From 2 to 5 p.m. weekdays, Boston's Gene Burns will be heard in New York City. He does a WRKO show from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. WOR insists that the show will have a local flavor. While Mr. Burns is a 28 year veteran of the airwaves, recently named Talk Show Host of the Year by the National Association of Radio Talk Show Hosts, I really don't understand WOR's logic. Time will tell it Big Apple listeners tune in over the long run ... Speaking on Radio Talkers, Westwood One's Bruce Williams has just signed a no-cut contract holding him in steady work until October 1996. The parent company is even building him a studio in his New Port Richey, Florida home. The rumor mill has his annual salary in the $900,000 bracket ... Jim Lowe is returning to WNEW with a weekday slot. For trivia buffs he sang the Rock and Roll Classic "Green Door" ... Deborah Norville has returned to the radio airwaves, finally taking over the spot formally held by Sally Jesse Raphael. She was promoting her return on many tv stations, but her appearances were hampered by her NBC-TV contract, which is still in effect ... The October 16th edition of CBS' "48 Hours" will explore the unstable world of radio. From straight-talker Larry King, to the raunchy "Shock Jocks" of Nashville, "48 Hours" will reveal what the famous voices of the airwaves have done to make it to the top, while featuring those who are doing their best to survive in the high-stakes, ever-changing world of radio ... Pioneer radio personality Andre Baruch has died at the age of 83. He appeared on the radio classic Your Hit Parade, was the off camera narrator of Pathe Newsreels and was the founder of the Armed Forces Radio Network, during World War II

... WLAD-800's afternoon drive personality Al Peterson writes a column in a commercial Newsletter Radio World. In his recent article he discussed the dreaded dead air problem. While the majority of stations run very tight boards, such was not always the case. I remember a station in Hartford during the late sixties that was experimenting with the free-form music format, that was just getting off the ground. He announcer had the all night shift and was bad to say the least. One Sunday morning while getting up a six o'clock, I tuned the band looking for something to get me off and running. Instead I heard the thumping sound of a record album at the end of the side, just looping around. I listened to this for 15 minutes or so, curious to find out what was going on. Finally this very sleep voice came on and thanked the janitor for waking him up. He then put on another side of the album and probably went back to sleep. Ah, a station owners nightmare. Comedian George Carlin once talked of his job as the wakeup man on a California radio station. The station came on the air weekdays at 6 am, unfortunately George had a reputation for being late, on certain occasions. To get himself out of trouble he would flip the switch and start reading a commercial in the middle of the copy, trying to fake out the owner into thinking there was an engineering problem. Ah creativity at its finest ...

According to a report in the Chicago Tribune, the NFL's Chicago Bears are looking for a radio home. The Bears currently reside at WGN but WMAQ and WBBM, both 50,000 watters are putting in a strong bid. WMAQ is especially eager, as they currently carry the White Sox and the Bulls games. If WMAQ gets the nod, maybe another all-sports station is in the offing ... International NRCers should note that Radio Sweden 1179 is offering an English broadcast nightly from 1930 to 1030 UTC ... The F.C.C. has denied a request by Major League Baseball concerning a waiver of the non-duplication rules. Major League Baseball wanted the games classified as a "network program" to have all live broadcasts of one event fall under its control ... WCBS-FM was a big winner again this year when it received the Marconi Radio Award from the National Association of Broadcasters for being the Station of the Year. I include this FM note, as this station exemplifies the best of the AM Radio Rock & Roll programming style of the 50's and 60's. The station's DJs are stocked with alumni from the WABC, WMCA, WMGM, WINS era. Effective October 19th, one of the biggest names ever returns to the CBS-FM radio airwaves with a regular slot, Big Dan Ingram. Big Dan is a legend in NYC radio. He has been making a comfortable living doing commercial voice-overs in the years since WABC-770 went all talk. Trivia buffs take note that Big Dan was the last DJ at the station. His final selection was "Imagine" by John Lennon ... Dan will be heard from noon until 3:00 p.m. weekends. Interesting to note, that he will follow Ron Lundy on Saturdays, just as he did on WABC ... The F.C.C. is changing its regulations to hopefully beef up the AM band. It plans to reduce the number of stations by 5,000 to reduce the interference problems and will authorize dual programming by stations that receive licenses in the new 1605-1705 segment. Under these guidelines, stations will be allowed to broadcast on two frequencies in the market at the same time for a period of five years. This will allow commercial radio makers to incorporate the expanded dial segment into their new radio models. More to come on this breaking story ... Garrison Kiellor's American Radio Company is returning to the airwaves for its third season ... WRKO is syndicating its two top talkers, Jerry Williams and Gene Burns. The first affiliate to sign up was WNNZ in Springfield, MA ... The Philadelphia Eagles Randall Cunningham's season ending knee injury will find him doing radio related work with WCAU in the interim ... The National Rifle Association has asked the F.C.C. to reinstate its Fairness Doctrine Policy. The NRA cites long standing anti-gun bias by broadcasters ... Former F.C.C. Chairman Dean Burch, has died of cancer at age 63 ... WEEI in Boston has dropped its All-News programming in favor of All-Sports. This leaves Beantown without an all-news station ... WLUP in Chicago is trying to syndicate it's DJs to other AM stations, Jonathan Brandmeier, Steve Dahl and Kevin Matthews are now available ... Radio dynamo Bruce Morrow "Cousin Brucie" will receive immortality in comic books when he is sketched into the Archie series. Needless to say he'll be taking care of all the sock hops at Riverdale High School. In addition to his Crusin' America syndicated series, he is heard regularly on WCBS-FM and has been involving himself in radio station management ... The cutbacks have again struck CBS. As of September 1st, their Music Library has been dissolved, with the network going to The Clearinghouse for their musical needs. The move will layoff about ten staffers in Los Angeles. It has been reported that the contents of the music library will be donated to the Museum of Television and Radio by Laurence Tisch ... KMJ-Fresno is airing repeats of Rush Limbaugh's Show following Larry King, ... If you would like to contribute to this column, I may be reached by the address above or via CompuServe 72376.2557, Prodigy SMRBL1A, Genie P.KEMP3, FIDO (Ham, SWL and Broadcasting Echo areas), or amateur radio packet KZ1Z @ K1UOL.CT ... ## FCC's New Forfeiture Policy ... via Pete Kemp

Now given expanded Congressional authority to assess forfeitures for violations of its rules, the FCC has adopted a new forfeiture policy aimed at producing more consistent enforcement actions. The FCC says its new policy is intended to "ensure that similarly situated violators are treated in a comparable manner," and it replaces its former case-by-case approach to assessing fines against violators.

In 1989, Congress increased to $25,000 the amount the FCC could fine a broadcaster for a single rule violation (or for each day of a continuing violation, generally subject to a $250,000 cap on "continuing violation" fines.) The Commission's new forfeiture standards employ a base fine, established as a percentage of the maximum fine for a particular violation - a base fine that can be adjusted upward or downward in light of the specific "nature, circumstances, extent, and gravity of the violation."

One example would be violation of the tower lighting/markings rules, which the Commission considers "an extremely grave offense" and for which it has established an 80% or $20,000 base fine. If the FCC were to find that the violation was intentional, the fine could be higher than $20,000; it might be lower if the Commission found, instead, that the broadcaster had an overall history of rule compliance and/or payment of a $20,000 fine would cause substantial economic hardship.

A * sample * of some new base fines is listed below:

Haiti's Radio Stations Bear Scars of Strife

Attacks Drive News Outlets Off the Air

By Lee Hockstader
Washington Post Foreign Service

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, Oct. 25.—One good way to locate the offices of major radio stations in this capital is to look them up in the phone book. Another way, just as effective, is to search for building facades that are riddled with bullet holes.

Since the Sept. 30 military coup d'état that toppled president Jean-Bertrand Aristide, Haiti's radio stations have come under systematic, violent attacks from the army and police, according to diplomats and radio station executives.

Most of the stations that provided extensive news coverage or

—Radio Haiti owner Jean Dominique talk shows on public affairs now are either off the air or exercising the strict self-censorship that could mean survival. Some are broadcasting only music. The result is that at one of the most critical junctures of the country's modern history, the vast majority of Haitians have no reliable source of news.

"We are in a situation where anything could happen," said Richard Widmaier, the director of Radio Metropole, explaining his station's strategy for walking the tightrope with continued broadcasts. "What's happening in Zaire takes a lot of our news time right now."

Few people in this impoverished Caribbean nation can read. So the soldiers pay little attention to the newspapers—some of which are harshly critical of the military and the coup—that continue to circulate in the capital.

But nearly everyone here listens to the radio—a fact that was not lost on the coup makers who seized power, ousted Aristide and continue to tame Haiti's angry citizens at the point of a gun.

Jean Dominique, the crusading pro-Aristide owner of Radio Haiti, said his station has been off the air since Oct. 4. That day, a dozen troops and police officers piled out of a pickup truck and took target practice on his building in broad daylight, barely 15 minutes after Dominique and his staff had evacuated.

The military has issued repeated warnings to stations not to broadcast news that "incites people to violence," without specifying what topics that includes. This week, military officers visited at least one radio station to warn journalists against repeating news of a general strike called by Aristide's partisans.

Foreign governments, including the U.S. Embassy here, have demanded that the armed forces stop intimidating radio stations—to little avail. Today, Radio Metropole and Radio Soleil, the Roman Catholic Church's station, abruptly suspended news broadcasts without official explanation.

Within hours of the start of the coup, nearly every station broadcasting news was knocked off the air by soldiers who sprayed studios with automatic weapons and small arms. Some stayed off the air, but several returned after a few days to try to report news of the coup.

Radio Lumiere, a station affiliated with Protestant churches, carried reports a few days after the coup of an army massacre of peasants in Lamentin, a dirt-poor suburb of the capital. Within hours it was visited by soldiers, who raked the facade and a satellite dish stop the station with gunfire. It has not resumed broadcasting.

Radio Antilles, a pro-Aristide station that featured a popular afternoon talk show, was fired on during the first three days of the coup. Although the director, Jacques Sampaour, stopped broadcasting, he was hardly daunted; after all, it was the fifth time his station had come under attack since 1986.

But during a military-enforced curfew the night of Oct. 10, the soldiers returned, Sampaour said. They broke into the station's downtown studios, looted the safe of about $6,000 and smashed transmitters, tape players and other sensitive equipment.

For the 59-year-old Dominique, who has been a fiercely partisan voice of the left for more than 20 years as owner of Radio Haiti, violent attacks are nothing new. He keeps a green mixing bowl in his cluttered office to display his favorite souvenirs of a career in radio: dozens of bullet casings and a spent hand grenade.

In 1980 he was forced to flee the country when Radio Haiti was ransacked by thugs backing the Duvalier family dictatorship. When he returned from New York after Jean-Claude Duvalier's fall in 1986, he rebuilt the station from scratch with $60,000 in contributions from friends and listeners.

An admirer of Aristide, a leftist priest-turned-politician, Dominique was one of the Haitian leader's most passionate public supporters after he entered the presidential elections last year. He says it cost him tens of thousands of dollars in revenue from merchants who yanked their advertising in anger over his editorial stands.

Widmaier, 36, whose Radio Metropole runs a professional news operation geared to a well-educated, affluent audience, has come under pressure not only from the military but from his listeners as well. He said he has fielded a rash of telephone calls from apparently well-heeled listeners speaking cultured French who have cursed him for even the slightest attempt at balanced coverage.

The pressure against local stations has not silenced Aristide and his stalwarts altogether. In recent weeks, a Catholic station in the Dominican Republic, Radio Enriqueillo, has been airing afternoon messages from the ousted but still enormously popular president. Another, mysterious station calling itself Radio Marion—a Creole word that refers to freed and rebellious slaves—has been broadcasting virulently pro-Aristide statements twice a day from somewhere inside Haiti.

"Radio, all by itself, is a very dangerous medium in an illiterate country like Haiti," said Dominique. "People find, through the media, a way to amplify their voices, to express their hunger, their frustration and their strategy to fight. ... News can mobilize power. This, and the truth, are the fears of the military."

KIX 106, WHBQ-AM 56 merge programming

By Tom Walter
The Commercial Appeal

WGKX-FM 106 has leased most of the time on WHBQ-AM 56 and plans to simulcast its programming on WHBQ in November. Both stations play country music.

Most WHBQ employees will lose their jobs, station officials would not say how many. The Federal Communications Commission requires that an AM station in such an agreement maintain an operational studio, a full-time engineer and a general manager.

The so-called local marketing agreement is new to Memphis, but has been in other cities for a couple of years. Stations in Nashville and in Jackson, Miss., have similar agreements.

The agreement has become popular because AM stations that stand alone have a difficult time drawing both listeners and advertising money. WGKX sees the agreement as a way of increasing the number of commercials it can sell.

"Stations like us are virtually sold out (of advertising inventory) and we're looking for extensions of both programming and sales," said John Bibbs, WGKX president and general manager.

WHBQ will continue broadcasting its Sunday morning religious programming and its sports programming, but the rest of the time will belong to WGKX. Under the agreement, Dr. George S. Flinn Jr. still will own WHBQ and Roger Morgan will be its general manager.

The agreement is for 15 years. Sometime in the future WGKX plans to offer more sports programming on WHBQ, while keeping to its own country music format.

"We get calls now from people asking why we don't carry NASCAR racing, or the Indy 500 or the Kentucky Derby," said Bibbs.

"We'd like to do it for the 5,000 people who want it, but we have 300,000 people who listen to us every week" who are interested mostly in music, he said.

WHBQ, which in the spring 1991 Arbitron ratings book was the lowest-rated station in Memphis, sees an advantage to the situation because it's now in a relationship with a successful FM station.

Station officials wouldn't say how much WGKX is paying to lease the time on WHBQ.

There are other FM-AM combinations in Memphis such as WHRR-FM and WDIA-AM, but all are owned by the same operator.

It's been years since I've sent in a MUSING, I know a lot has happened with AM in the last 20 years and some of that has not been pleasant. I did have several questions that I have not seen addressed in DX NEWS, which, of course, remains a very, very interesting publication. It gives information based on actual listening rather than information based on press releases like the trade publications. One question regarding the Class I-A & I-B Mexican clears that were almost romantic in their religious and special broadcasts to the US from along the border & N Mexico. Redding the 1991 WRTVH, it seems that all are now 100% Spanish, except XERTA-690 which is all sports. It seems that XEPRS-1090, XEROK-800, XERP-1570 & XEG-1050 are all now Spanish. Is that so? Those stations provided much material for the early skits of Don Imus on WGAR-1220 & WNRC-660, complete with the 'Del Rio, TX' mailing address given on XERP! Of course, the radical & religious broadcasters on these stations were featured in the articles in the 60's Electronics Illustrated magazine and others. Too bad they are apparently gone forever. When did they come to an end? At the NAB in San Francisco in Sept., I spoke with someone from Germany who said LW (155-300 kHz) is losing popularity in Europe, much more rapidly than AM. Can any discuss this? It seems Algeria has set up a whole bunch of LW stations. Also, why did LW never come to be used in this hemisphere for broadcasting? I have a 1931 radio annual with a listing of stations worldwide and note that there were already LW broadcast stations throughout Europe & Tunis in N Africa, but none in this country. Finally, what happened to the pirate-ship radio stations given so much publicity in the 60's & 70's? Radio Caroline off England, Radio Merkur off Sweden & Denmark? Are there articles about these stations and what has become of them? I don't see them listed in WRTVH anymore. Best to all! (And thanks for checking in with us, Mike. Your right, it has indeed been a few years since your name has been in MUSINGS!-DWS)

In early Oct., WKBR-1250 was noted back on the air with a REL format. In other events, I took a business trip out to the Hewlett-Packard training center in Mountain View, CA. While on the trip, I got to do a bit of DXing and I had several visits with NEIL KAZAROSS. We did some testing of my loop-vs-active whip cardioid-pattern phasing system using the DCPI/RTL/RTU1/MFJ1024. One night, Neil & I DXed near Pigeon Point Lighthouse in Pescadero, CA, not far from the Ano Nuevo State Park used in the past for many DXpeditions. TP conditions were off, with just some Hawaiians & the Tahiti-738 net noted, but Canadians & Pacific NW stations were blasting in, frequently overriding closer CA & Mexican stations that usually dominate. At my hotel room in Mountain View, I managed to log Japan-774 on the Sony 2010 10/14 1341 GMT, language lessons were heard with a man & woman repeating the same phrases. Strong TP hets were noted on 837 891, 972, 1044, 1053, 1079, 1079 & 1467. The big news story while I was out there was the Oakland fire. I could easily spot the smoke cloud when I took a ride up to Mt. Tamalpais that Sunday. During the trip, I managed to get on local radio. KOFY-1050 was having its last day as an oldies station before changing to a Hispanic format. A well known DJ (last name Gabbert) took my call and found it interesting that I was from the Boston area. Seems that he's good friends with Arnie Ginsberg (present owner of WXKS 1430/107.9 and in the early 60's Boston's most popular jock on WMEX-1510). Remember to DX on 11/8-9, a later comparison of foreign loggings may prove interesting. 73 for now.

Greetings! Dave, your Musing about the Theme Issues struck home and I thought I'd drop a line. Most of the suggested themes are applicable here. Let's see: I use tube gear, an HQ180A that I bought new in 1964 is still my primary DX machine and is on only its second set of tubes! I've been in the NRC for over 25 years so that fits, too! Guess I'm also a past editor as I've done other columns than AM Switch in the past including the infamous DDXX with HWB (How many remember these?). As for WRJM-1450, although I've never actually verified the station, I have slept there overnight a few times. And as for WNRC-640, it seems to me that several times their XR was in my room at the convention-hi! Looks like I'll have to do a lot of Musing for a change. Locally, WKTX-830 is now back on RS. They returned first with an abbreviated sked of 0800-1700 but they are now operating their full daytime sked. They have promised to do a DX TEST for us this year so watch the front page. My understanding is that they will eventually be simulcasting with WJTB-1040 which is W of Cleveland. Evidently they are exploring the possibility of leasing a subcarrier on one of the Cleveland UHF TV stations to relay audio to WKTX, probably cheaper than either phone lines or multi-hop STL circuit. If this rumor pans out, I'll let you know. And, as of today, they still have not changed calls to WXTD so maybe this change is ka-poot. So now all of the silent AM stations here in the Youngstown market are back on the air. Good news for them, bad news for we AM DXers however. I recently converted an unused inverted L ham antenna to the noise reducing configuration outlined by DALLAS LANKFORD here in DX NEWS and am happy to report that it works just as claimed. My ever present buzz in the bottom end of the BCB is GONE on this antenna. Of course it will not replace my loop unless I can figure out how to rotate my extra lot where the antenna farm is but it certainly will be a valued additional DX weapon. The reduction of the noise sources on this antenna is really startling. 73 & Good DX!

MIKE HARDESTER - 3118 GAITWAY COURT - JACKSONVILLE, NC 28546-6973

Greetings! With both my wife & I working, 'spare' time is becoming rather scarce. However, a couple of items to pass along. I recently did a test drive in a 92 Sonoma pick-up and, of course, what test drive isn't complete without a check of the radio? Ahem! Anyway, I noted that the digital readout goes to 1710 khz & the owners manual says that for AM Stereo reception, C-QUAM is in use. Sensitivity was better (AM) than on my GMC truck. As for DX, who knows? A recent article in the LAKOTA TIMES (newspaper for the Sioux in ND & SD) mentioned that the Standing Rock Sioux (7th Generation Media Services, Inc.) will be putting a station on the air. The target date is 1995 and the call requested is KOLA. Although not mentioned, I'm guess it will be FM, 2 other stations (KILI & KMAH) which serve the Lakota Nation are also on FM, I'll pass on any further information. All for now, very 73 & Best of DX!

Hello NRC members! It's been at least 7 YEARS since I've last written into the MUSINGS column so let me re-introduce myself. I am now 22 years old. I first joined the NRC back in late '81 until '83, then '85-'86 and then rejoined last Jan. I am going into my 3rd year of fulltime broadcasting, I spent over a year on WDLG-1490, first doing overnights then evenings. I went to afternoon drive and music director on WTSX-96.7 then came the evil & demise of the broadcast industry, "The Greedy Axe". I was told they couldn't afford me even though I was workin extra and making less than others at neighboring outlets. WDLG-1490 is automated w/CW 1300-2400 and simulcasts w/WTSX 0000-0600 w/AC/CHR. I have gone on for now to do part time at WZAD-97.3. I have found more time to get back into DXing (and write this badly needed Muse!). I encourage all members to write in with their ideas and thoughts and keep the back pages full. My aircheck collection has been growing the last few years. I am concentrating on stuff from WABC-770 61-82 & WABC-FM 61-70, so please let me know if you have anything or perhaps we can swap. Also, my radio collection has been growing, up to 10 consoles and 15 tables/portables, mostly Grundig-Blaupunkt-Telefunken. And on the DX front, PJB-800 has started to roll in here, quite frequently o/ CKLW. I hope to make it a habit to write in.

DAVE SCHMIDT - P O BOX 11502 - WILMINGTON, DE 19850-1502

And a nice cross section this week, glad to hear from all! Keep some ideas out in the open regarding some theme MUSINGS, which we've always had good luck with in drawing out response. Things have really picked up again and have once again gotten busy, I'm hoping it will hold out for a while! Even though the HS football season is just about done, you may want to look for some daytimers or low powered night-timers coming in amazingly clear on Friday or Saturday nights with their broadcasts. Failures happen at strange times-hi! 73's
